Mrs. Fisher

I have never been much of a math student, and this year wasn't much different, but your class was always lively! I have a question for you: How did you ever put up with me all year? Math class this year I have learn more about life from those great little quotes on the board than all my other classes put together. It's about time that math teachers didn't get tied down in the basic facts of math and miss the ideas of life. I owe you a lot (like about 100 paper) and all I can say is thanks. God Bless you, and your family, cuz it's people, with hearts like yours that make life great.

Dear Mrs. Fisher,

I thank you very much for two years of math

I have enjoyed your classes (even though math isn't my

Build thee more stately mansions,

o my soul,

As the swift seasons roll.

Leave thy low-vaulted past!

Let each new temple,

nobler than the last,

Shut thee from heaven

with a dome more vast.

Till thou at length art free,

Leaving thine outgrown shell

by life's unresting sea!

Over one-hundred years ago, Oliver Wendell Holmes in his poem "The Chambered Nautilus" wrote: "Build thee more stately mansions, o my soul." These lines are still applicable in the year of the conformist, — the mod, — the hippie, — the yippie, or whatever a new or splinter group chooses to call itself; — whatever their name, they, as did Holmes, make the same plea. They too see as he saw: "the series of enlarging compartments successively dwelt in by the animal that inhabits the shell, which is built in a widening spiral." Their plea, — their spiral, is toward learning, learning which will make them better people — people who through experiential learning will come to a level of compassionate understanding — to "the better mansions."

We, the staff of THE CHIEFTAIN, will endeavor by way of photo-journalism to show you in our story of the year, that at King Philip we have the locale in which to learn and to come to know one another and ourselves.

The principal product at King Philip is learning — learning which is academic, vocational, social, and physical. Students and faculty are actively involved in relating and reacting to the world, each other, and themselves. This learning, relationship and corresponding reaction, components of the continuum of the spiral, lead to the acquisition of and further involvement with the "more stately mansions" of understanding; an understanding about oneself, one's world, and one's people.

CURRICULUM

"Where its dim dreaming was wont to dwell,
And the frail tenant shaped his growing shell,"

Mr. David K. Moulaison is administrative assistant to the superintendent.

1968-69 — A YEAR of nationwide political, civil and social upheaval — presents a special challenge to all who are involved in the educational process. This challenge is keenly felt and must be met by Mr. David W. Eaton, Superintendent of the King Philip Regional School District, and the school committee.

Together, they must endeavor to satisfy the ever-changing educational needs of all secondary students in the regional district, through wise expenditures of school funds and the provision of qualified school administrators, faculty, and service personnel.

Mrs. Janet Sievert, Mr. Edward B. Brown, Mr. Samuel P. Robison, Mr. George W. Hayden, Mr. Charles F. Winter, Chairman; Mrs. Marilyn Ware, secretary; Mr. William E. Clarke, Mrs. Lorraine Newman, and Mr. Robert Guillette are the elected members of the district school committee.

Administrators meet educational challenges

PRINCIPAL CHARLES L. MANOS, despite the increased demands which an expanding school population imposes upon him, always finds time for his students and faculty. Whether helping students raise funds for school projects or attending sports and social events, he can still listen and act on the needs and problems of both students and faculty. Of Mr. Manos, we can truly say: "Here's one principal whose door is always open to his charges."

Mr. Manos was elected superintendent in December of the school year. Mr. Eaton resigned to join the Boston University staff.

Mr. Charles L. Manos, principal, takes "time-out" to smile for the photographer.

Students listen attentively while Mr. Manos outlines plans for a future funding project.

King Philip Warriors have a loyal and apparently worried fan in Mr. Manos.

Discipline builds stature

"SCHOOL days, school days, good old golden rule days." These lines might well be entitled "The Assistant Principal's Lament," for a most important duty of Mr. Walter White, assistant principal, is that of discipline — the application of the "Golden Rule."

Among the other overall and general administrative duties which he shares with Mr. Manos, Mr. White is responsible for school attendance.

Office secretary, Mrs. Florence Waldron, types the daily attendance report.

Mrs. Jean Candella switches a telephone call.

Mr. Walter White, assistant principal, easily locates a teacher and class on the "scheduling" board.

Superintendent's Secretary, Mrs. Barbara Franklin, takes a telephone call.

Secretary, Mrs. Laurette Cruickshank, reads a purchase order.

Mrs. Katherine Sheehan checks the payroll sheet.

Preventive care preserves health

WITHOUT the healthy shell the human organism fails. All academic and vocational instruction is of no avail without health. King Philip — cognizant of this fact, has instituted programs to watch over student health needs. The emphasis is on preventive care. Physical examinations, eye and ear tests and dental checkups are made periodically. Mrs. Sally Webb, R.N. — new to the King Philip health staff this year, cares for all health problems, emergencies and accidents which occur at school or on the playing fields.

As part of the preventive care program, Spencer N. Frankl, D.M.D., examines Nancy Bostrom's teeth.

Mrs. Pearl Nelson, substitute nurse, examines Joanne Duhy during the annual eye examination.

Service a force in education

King Philip's "Stop & Go" signal is the white-gloved hand of Mr. Whitman Jameson.

Often taken for granted by the average American student are the forces behind the scenes of his education. Many people are needed to supply the student with the comforts which he has become accustomed to i.e., clean, well maintained buildings and grounds, hot nutritional lunches and security. These needs are met by the policeman, custodians, matron and cafeteria staff.

Mr. Russell Fuller, Mr. Lysander Bonney, Mr. Clayton Cummings, (head custodian), Mr. Normand Levallee, Mr. Joseph Meduic and Mr. William Lightfoot are responsible for custodial care and school maintenance.

The grease gun in Mr. Henry Lightfoot's hand attests to the fact that the equipment as well

Mrs. Ingmarie Wiggin, matron, is never without the "keys".

the building and grounds are all maintained.

R1 — Mrs. Mildred Wiklund, Mrs. Gertrude Cappuccino, Mrs. Elizabeth DiSciullo, Mrs. Rennie Bowden, Mrs. Virginia Urmston, Mrs. Virginia Mitchell, Mrs. Virginia Such; R2 — Mrs. Ellen Cody, Mrs. Anne Cardaci, Mrs. Patricia LeBlanc, Mrs. Elizabeth Treen, Mrs. Ruth Willard, Mrs. Lucy Wignall, Mrs. Mary Faulkner, Mrs. Frances Coughlan prepare and serve cafeteria lunches.

Effective direction through counseling

Without a doubt, the most important function of the King Philip Guidance Department, under the direction of Mr. Francis X. O'Regan, is the ceaseless counseling which each individual student receives. Where to go to school? Where to find a job? What to do about a personal or academic problem? These are questions which must be answered daily.

Guidance is all-encompassing in that all students are tested and counselled. Information, both academic and occupational, is kept readily available and in tune with the times.

Is Mrs. Madeline Davis, guidance secretary; smiling because she is hearing that another senior has been admitted to the college of his choice?

Director of Guidance, Mr. Francis X. O'Regan, checks a college manual with Lizbeth Breitbart.

Roger Eaton, Susan Lukk, and Wanda Stacey show interest in the current information available in the extensive library of up-to-date college catalogues and job manuals.

Mr. Stanley Hamilton checks the files for an evaluation of College Board Scores for Senior Antonio Freire.

Future career opportunities are examined by Miss Ann Resca and Barbara Lambert.

Written and oral expression, build the “bridge” to understanding

If the “generation gap” is to be closed and if we are to understand ourselves, each other and the other nations of the world, everyone must find a “bridge” of common language and interpretation. Down through the years, the English department has worked at building this “bridge” through the oral and written expression of thought and through the reading, comprehension and interpretation of the many forms of classical and modern literature.

English department chairman, Mr. James Black smiles in response to a student answer in American literature.

R1 — Mrs. Viola Kron, Mr. Stephen Besaw, Mrs. Eleanor, R. Alter. R2 — Mr. Robert Houde, Mrs. Diane Lubow, Mrs. Joan Secher, and Mrs. Deborah Taylor are members of the English department faculty.

Efficient reading and articulate speech — a must for today's student

DUE to the increased enrollment and awareness of the need for more efficient reading skills for all students, (whether it be developmental, corrective, or remedial), a second faculty member has been added to the reading program. With the laboratory facilities and increased staff, the program directed by Mrs. Alice Church continues to expand. Semester reading courses instruct K.P. students in the techniques of speed reading and comprehension skills.

Today's students must exercise their speaking talents in many rhetorical situations. Practice in extemporaneous, dramatic, argumentative and other types of public speaking provides verbal facility and assertive self-confidence. Miss Suzanne Person, drama coach, offers all interested students the opportunity to gain this experience.

Surprised by the camera, Miss Suzanne Person, drama and speech coach, is caught in a dramatic pose.

Mrs. Marion Berio looks on as Mrs. Alice Church prepares the day's lesson.

Social studies faculty plans sociology course

KING PHILIP social studies teachers, chaired by Miss Clara Manteca, are undertaking a continuing curriculum study which will bring new courses of study to the K.P. students. Presently, plans are being formulated for a new course in sociology — a subject appropriate and necessary to understand many of the problems and characteristics of our rural, suburban, and urban society. In this time of civic and student unrest in our international, national, and local spheres, there exists a need for comprehensive dialogue to understand the motivation and social tumult underlying our evolving society.

Miss Clara Manteca, social studies chairman; confers with teacher, John Dwyer.

Teachers of social studies are: Mr. Thomas Blaisdell, trainee; Mr. Anthony Lazzara, Miss Janna Bremer, Mr. John Dwyer, Miss Clara Manteca, chairman; Mr. William Brennan, Mr. Francis Gallipeau, Miss Suzanne Person, and Mr. Constantine Poolos.

John Chisholm and Paul Pelletier stand with drawings of medieval inventions.

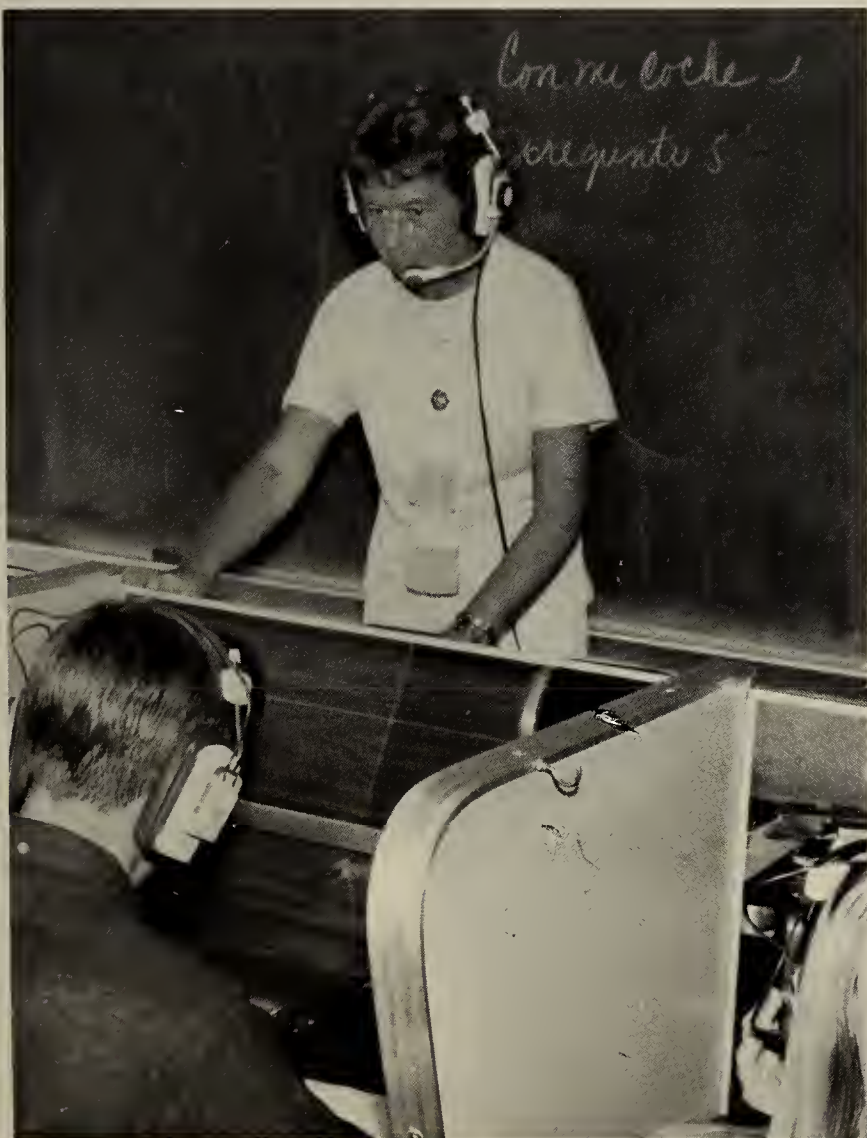

Mr. Robert Murphy, Mrs. Lorna Russell, Mrs. Flora Parisi, Mrs. Lucy Costello, and Mr. Paul Lanciaux teach foreign languages.

Languages a must for communication

ALTHOUGH English is the most popular foreign language for students in other countries, in America, the student must study the language of those countries. Without a reading-speaking knowledge of a peoples' language, there can be no exchange of ideas and but little understanding of the culture, tradition and customs.

At King Philip, courses are offered in French, Spanish, German and Russian. The approach to learning is twofold — traditional classroom with emphasis on conversation and the language laboratory approach for improved pronunciation, comprehension and fluency. Along with the modern languages, Latin is offered for those interested in the classic approach. The breadth and depth of the course offerings give students the opportunity to be selective.

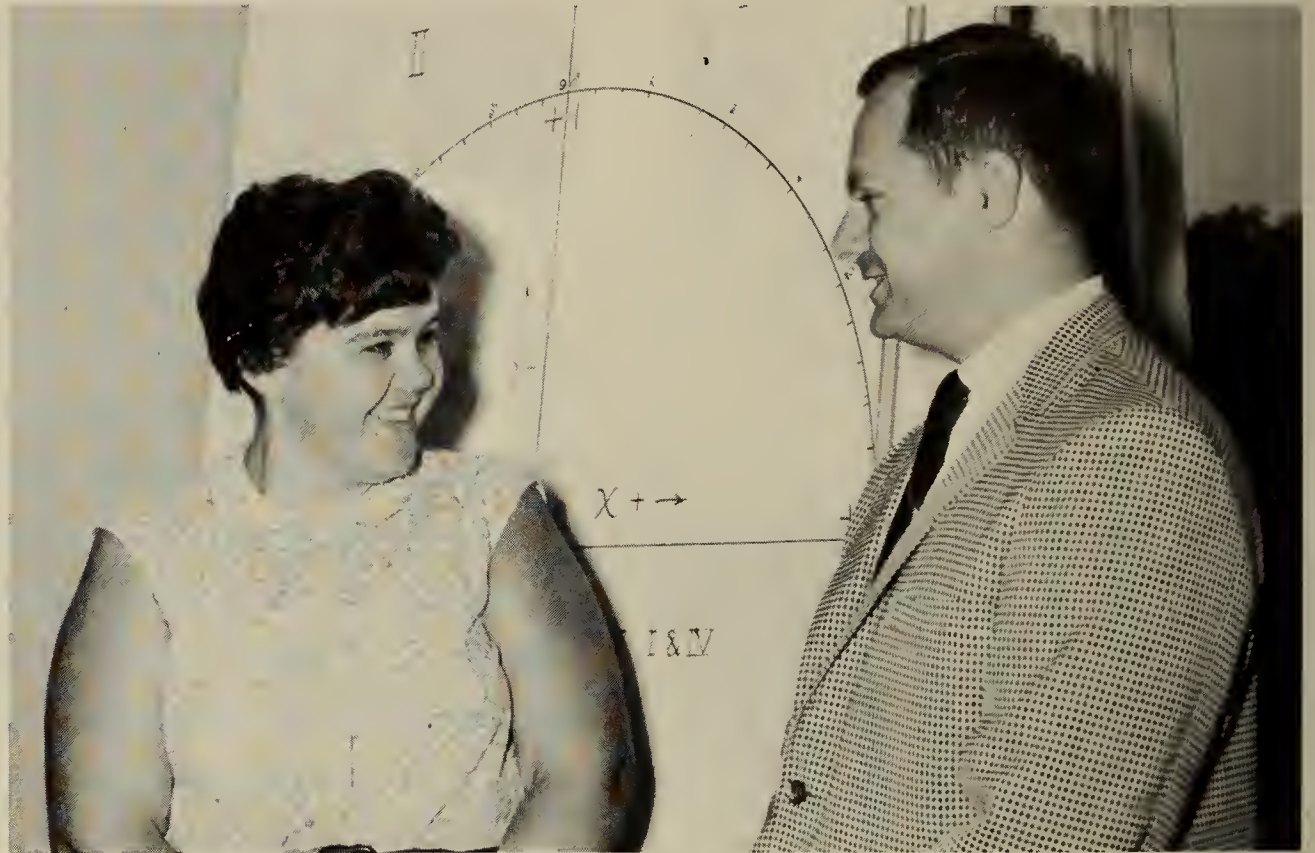

Mrs. Mildred Wallace, chairman, monitors a French class in the language laboratory.

Curriculum planners aware of mathematic and

OF the subjects taught at K.P., none are as inherent and necessary to our civilization as are the sciences and mathematics. The past century has seen a period of great scientific and mathematical advancements. The importance of science certainly does not seem to be dwindling down. Christmas, 1968 saw the advent of the newest scientific frontier, viz., that of interplanetary exploration.

The curriculum planners at K.P. have obviously been cognizant of the importance of these advances. Advanced second year courses in the sciences and an introductory calculus course are offered to interested students. Current textbooks, increased laboratory time, and innovated teaching methods provide experiential learning for those who accept these challenging courses.

During the summer, Miss Genevieve Szczepaniak and Mr. Joseph Lepere attended mathematics institutes in New Mexico and California.

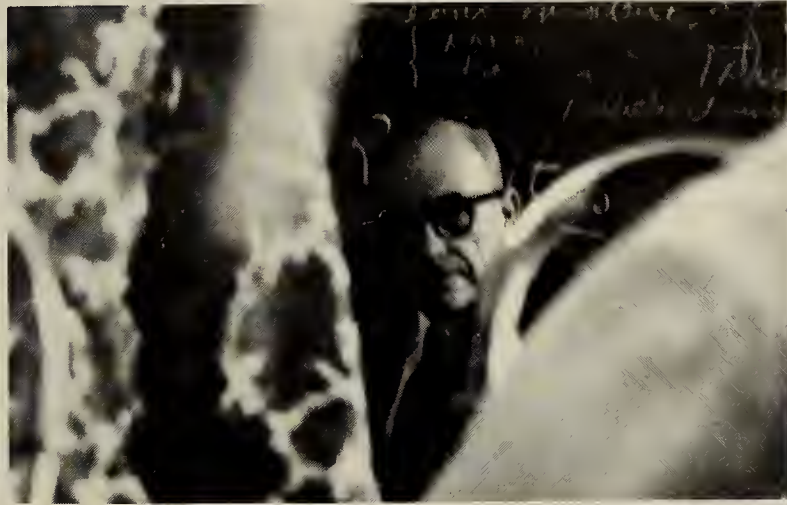

Mathematics department chairman Mr. Edward Morgan; types tomorrow's test for his senior calculus classes.

Teaching mathematics at K.P. are: Miss Margaret Flaherty, Mr. Arnold Macktaz, Mrs. Lydia Fisher, and Mrs. Lucy Costello.

scientific advances

Mr. Harry Burry watches student experiments.

Left: Charles Reidel tests for silver iron in an unknown solution.

Teachers of the several sciences at K.P. are: Mr. Brian O'Connor, Mr. Harry Burry, Mr. Anthony Lazzara, Mr. Charles Vaillancourt, Mrs. Margaret Casper, Mr. William White, and Mr. Anthony Cowl.

Library, art and music

IF the King Philip student is to build "more stately mansions" he must have the resource material and the cultural and creative opportunities which make for stateliness. The library with its many literary and resource works gives every student the chance to develop his intellectual curiosity and literary appreciation.

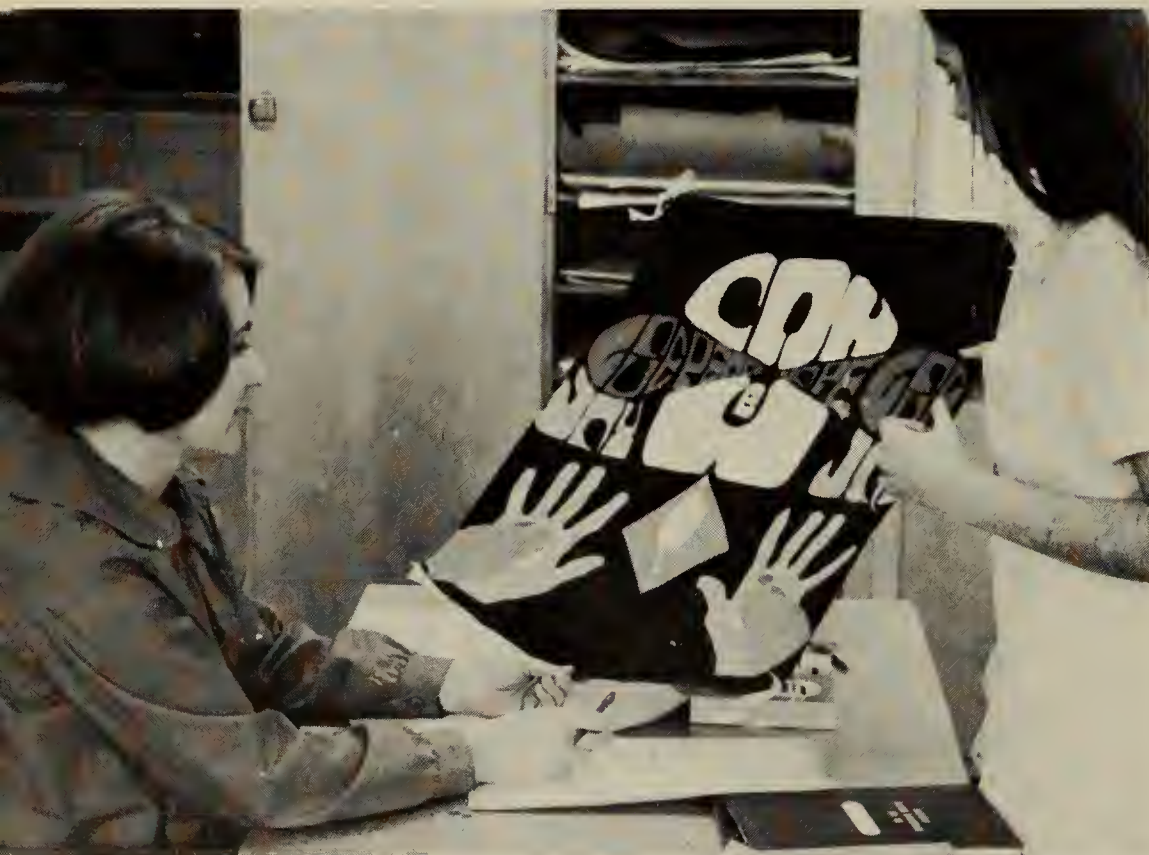

There are few media for creative and cultural expression that are as rewarding to the spirit as are art and music. Art and music allow the participant to realize his complete personality not just the logical analytical segment of it.

Creativity gives voice to his feelings, moods, and the ephemeral discoveries in life . . . those little "happenings" which form the complete individual.

Above: Music master, Mr. Anthony Anzivino; and his "chorus" girls tryout a new song. Right: Mrs. Winona LoGrasso stands with the librarian's "tour de force" — a drawer from the card catalogue.

Art teacher, Miss Suzanne Tellis; and Spring Leonard study a pop poster.

Mr. Raymond Hill, director of music; smiles encouragingly at flutist, Lizbeth Breitbart.

Business students become adept

IN the modern well-equipped business department, King Philip students become adept in the business skills — typing, office machines, short hand and bookkeeping. With the changing concepts in education, the student needs the practical skills as well as purely academic knowledge. Fellows and girls who can type or do bookkeeping find jobs easier to come by — whether part time or full time. For the academic student, typing is a must for term papers. For the business student, the learned skills give him a way of life.

Top left: Mr. John Robbins, business department chairman; emphasizes a point in a bookkeeping class. Above: Mrs. Elizabeth Tolley, Mrs. Rita Tokaz, Mrs. Nancy Dombkowski, Mrs. Cecelia Murphy, Mrs. Mildred Edwards, and Mr. John Robbins, chairman; teach business subjects.

Kathleen Kelley and Sheila Beaver practice to become efficient typists.

Physical education program is stepped up —

Physical education classes for boys and girls now meet three times a week. This stepped-up program gives the student an even better chance to become physically fit. Students play games, do calisthenics, and participate in gymnastic exercises.

Charles Rooney sets up a volleyball play with Rainer Baumann.

Warren Brown gets set to throw the "cannon ball."

Arching exercises done by Paula and Judith Ravinski strengthen the lower back muscles.

School for homemakers

WITH the mini-skirts came the mini-meals. Therefore, the students learn to prepare well-balanced and palatable mini-meals as well as maxi-meals, for food and drink in packets do not seem as appealing as a well stuffed turkey, light, crusted apple pie or spicy, steaming lasagna.

Home economics students, along with cooking, learn other homemaking skills — sewing, interior decorating, child care, and needlework. Every year the girls model their fashion creations at the spring fashion show.

Mrs. Pauline Pfeffer, chairman; helps with an outfit for Sheila Porreca.

Mrs. Shirley Sherlock gives Patricia Ulrich a few pointers in needlework.

"Just like Mother used to make." Mrs. Stahl, aided by Lori Firth and Cheryl Gustafson, prepares a meal.

Industrial arts and mechanical drawing offer practical and technical skills

IN a carefully planned program, boys interested in creative and practical workmanship in wood and metal have an opportunity to develop their skills in the industrial arts shop. For those planning to become draftsmen or engineers mechanical drawing provides the basic knowledge which will prove invaluable in later studies.

At the newest of the vocational houses, these students receive practical experience.

Vocational department instructors are: Mr. Edward Tousignant, Mr. Antone Cabral, Mr. Fred Tabor, Mr. Raymond Harding and Mr. Arthur Hart.

Mr. Preston Titus, director of King Philip's fine vocational department; dictates to his secretary.

Vocational school — an apprenticeship

STUDENTS at K.P. must decide early in their years what course to follow; college, business, or vocational. Those who choose the vocational program, grow to know the freshness of wood, the smoothness of metal and the harshness of the drill. After four years of academic classes and vocational training, these students graduate as apprentice machinists and carpenters.

Vocational student, Daniel Landry; works at the lathe.

Miss Donna Tourtillotte, secretary to Mr. Preston Titus, types another report.

Individual need — prime concern of special education

IN SPECIAL EDUCATION CLASSES, the needs of the individual student are the first and prime consideration. The students receive special academic instruction, and attend classes in home economics, industrial arts, and physical education.

Driver education, classroom and on the road instruction, has become so popular that Mr. Francis Gallipeau and Mr. John Robbins, instructors, have to run four classes a year. Students are anxious to attend these classes, for, in Massachusetts, students who have not had this instruction must wait until they are seventeen years old to get licenses.

Miss Eileen Goldstein is King Philip's speech therapist.

Mr. John Robbins and Mr. Frank Gallipeau are driver education instructors.

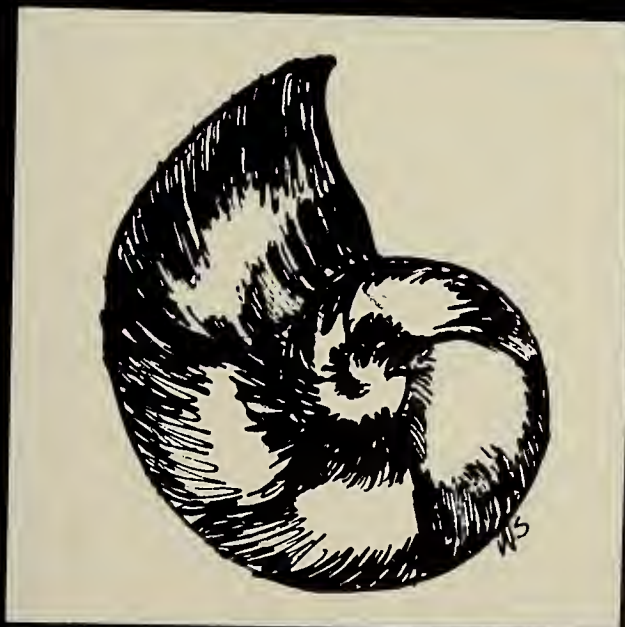

Mr. Alexander Taylor, special education teacher; listens for a student answer.

ACTIVITIES

"Year after year beheld the silent toil
That spread his lustrous coil;
Still, as the spiral grew."

Below: Punch is served during the social hour after induction, Nancy Howard served punch to Linda Nelson, Dianne Wright, Kathleen Cronin, Linda Daniels and Jacqueline Turcotte.

Seated: Miss Clara Manteca, Mr. Constantine Paulos, and Mrs. Deborah Taylor serve as advisers to the Senior Honor Society. Standing: Society officers are: Dianne Carpenter, secretary; Jeffrey Newman, president; Antonio Friere, vice-president; Elaine Evans, treasurer.

Scholarship and service

WITH the profits from such enterprises as bake sales and carwashes, and with the aid of voluntary contributions from students, the Junior Honor Society has undertaken its most ambitious project to date, that of financing the construction of a school in Latin America, under the sponsorship of CARE. The practice of giving Christmas baskets to needy families in the area is being continued, along with the tutoring service, through which Honor Society members spend some of their free time helping classmates with academic problems.

In addition to continuing scholastic achievement, a must for membership, Senior Honor Society members are further developing their long established tutoring program. This program is a service open to K.P. students who need help in achieving better grades in academic subjects. Members are, also, raising funds for Christmas packages for King Philip alumni serving in Viet Nam. Preparations are underway, too, for the annual induction ceremony for new members.

Changes bring responsibility to council

IN the past year, our Student Council has undergone constructive changes which concern the entire school. For the first time, the Student Council president and vice-president were elected directly by the student body. The new constitution was ratified recently, and now committees have been formed to revise the school handbook and to investigate possible modifications of the student dress policy. A periodic newsletter brings students closer to their council by informing them of new decisions and ideas.

It is hoped that, by participating in the affairs of their school through service on the Student Council, students will gain experience which will enrich their lives.

Kathleen Cronin samples a chocolate bar sold by the Student Council to raise funds.

Officers of the Student Council are: R1 — Elizabeth Babel, vice-president; Sarah Kempton, president; R2 — Barbara Perry, secretary; Paul Scholtes, treasurer.

Student Council members are: R1 — Carolyn Morone, Rene Meek, Marie Prantis, Paul Scholtes, treasurer; Elizabeth Babel, vice-president; Barbara Perry secretary; Lizabeth Breitbart, Kathleen Cronin, Linda Taylor. R2 — Mr. Charles Vaillancourt, adviser: Dennis Power, Gregory Greene, Deborah Wiklund, Emily Prantis, Claudia

Election year arouses student interest

ELECTION year is upon us. With it comes the frenetic excitement of the primaries, the interpretation of the platforms, and finally, the voting, which decides who will make the best leaders for our country. At the head of the political activity at King Philip is the Political Science Club. After running a mock election, the Political Science Club, under the direction of Miss Clara Manteca, interpreted the results of the school's election in conjunction with those of the national election, to see to what extent the choices coincided with those of the national election.

Maureen McBrien, Judith Pezold, Emory Rounds and Peter Santoro tally votes after mock presidential election.

Today's political headlines are the reference for political discussions led by: Mr. Constantine Paulos, adviser; Maureen McBrien, secretary;

Emory Rounds, president; Jeannette Tripp, vice-president; Louise Loring, treasurer; and Miss Clara Manteca, adviser.

Karen Petersen carefully concocts the brew for the Spanish Christmas party.

Kevin McCullough pours it out while engaging in repartee with John Greene.

Dawn Nelson tests the flavor.

Piñata big event for Spanish club

MRS. Flora Parisi is the new adviser for the King Philip Spanish Club. A big moment for the club members was the talk given by Maria Eugenia Pelaeza, a Spanish-speaking student from Guatemala. The Christmas piñata was as exciting and mysterious as ever.

Lyn Tibbetts, president; Susan Sumner, vice-president; Cynthia Larsen, secretary; Arthur Hapenny, treasurer; and Mrs. Flora Parisi, adviser; direct the Spanish Club activities.

Devotees of French cuisine

FRENCH Club members are planning a French dinner as an extra this year. The annual Christmas and sometime Cheese parties are still the highlights of their social season.

Mrs. Lorna Russell, adviser; Barbara Barnes, vice-president; Paula Carr, president; Mr. Paul Lanciaux, adviser; Edith Cook, secretary; Susan Bond, treasurer; and Mrs. Mildred Wallace, adviser; are the governing forces behind the French Club.

Latin lives in languages of today

"EX rident stolidi verba Latina." Ovid said many years ago, "And in their stupidity they laugh at Latin words." The stupid still do. They do not realize that the so-called dead language of Latin lives on in most of the languages of Europe, the Americas, and Africa. The Junior Classical League, under the enthusiastic direction of Mrs. Lucy Costello, maintains a continuing interest in the Latin language and its background.

Mrs. Lucy Costello protests that no one has eaten enough at the Latin Club Christmas party.

Paul Cobb, president; Mrs. Lucy Costello, adviser; and Jeffrey Newman, treasurer; somberly sit with a tome of Latin verse.

Advised by Mr. Robert Murphy, the German Club officers are Susan Lukk, secretary-treasurer, and James Conrad, president.

Alte Kameraden

GERMAN has emerged in the past century as the language of philosophy and science. For those whose aptitudes, interest, or ethnic backgrounds give them an affinity for the language, the sciences, or philosophy, there is no better way to enrich class learning than in the German Club. The German Club, under the direction of Mr. Robert Murphy, undertakes the study of the language and the culture.

This year, for enrichment, club members enjoyed a German dinner, attended a lecture on the Goethe Institute, and sang carols in German at Christmas.

June Clark, caught in a pensive moment, reflects upon the true meaning of Christmas.

Future teachers interested in education

FUTURE Teachers of America at King Philip do a real service in interesting students in the education which leads to the career of teaching. Under the direction of Miss Janna Bremer, the Future Teachers Club has also managed to aid the Junior Honor Society in financing the construction of a CARE sponsored school in Latin America. At the start of the Christmas season they entertained patients at Sturdy Memorial Hospital.

Right: Social Studies teacher and advisor to Future Teachers, Miss Janna Bremer, and the club members brought Christmas gifts to the small patients at Sturdy Memorial Hospital.

Below: Officers of this year's Future Teachers are: Teresa Cannon, vice-president; Linda Viola, secretary; Miss Janna Bremer, advisor; Lucille Gaudreau, president; Mr. Stephen Besaw, advisor; and Cynthia Budd, treasurer.

Practicing skills gives experience

VOLUNTEERING their services at Pondville Hospital, members of the Future Nurses of America are practicing basic nursing techniques. During the Christmas season members put on a Christmas party for the patients. In keeping with the holiday season the girls made individual favors for the patients.

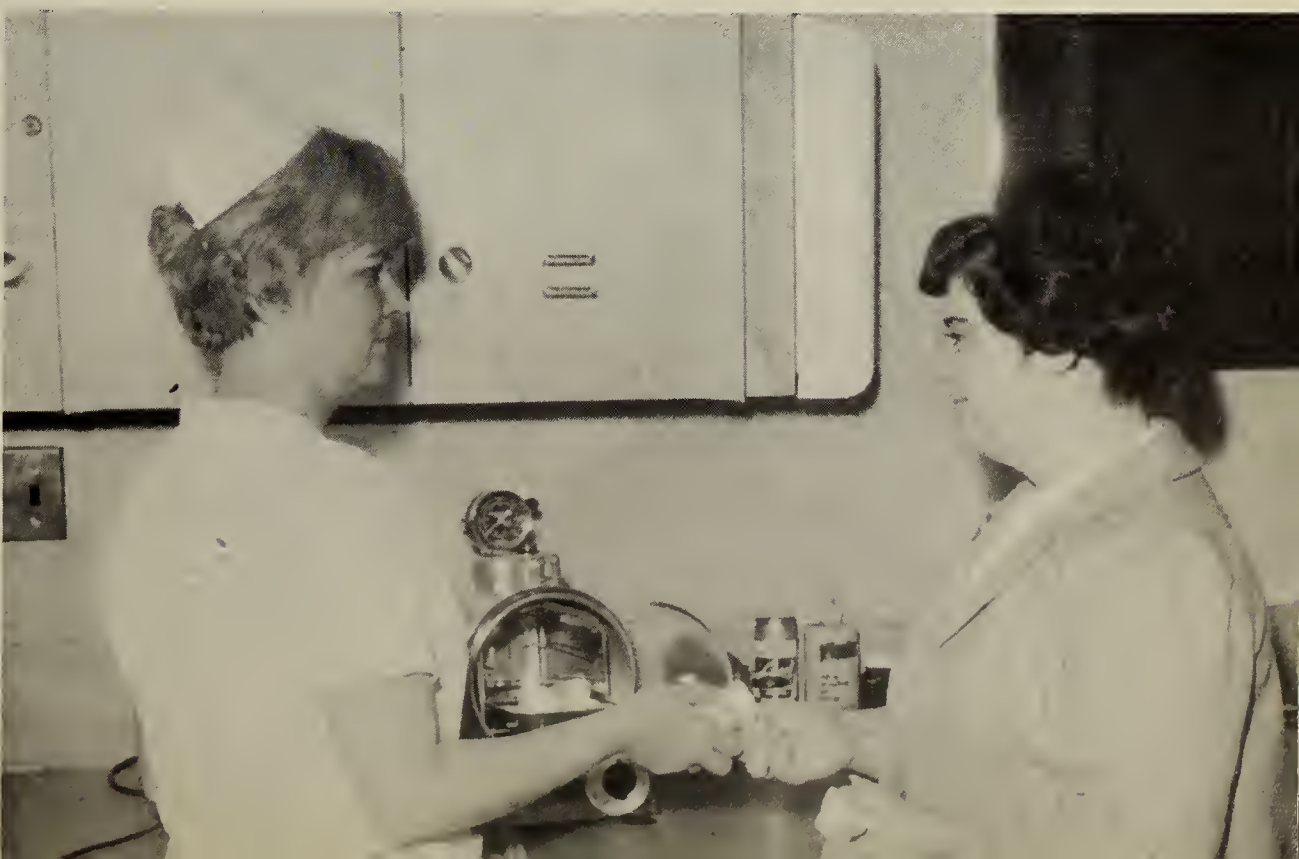

Future nurses Cheryl Skinner and Judith Pezold check the files for a student's inoculation record.

The King Philip Future Nurses of America elected: Judith Petrillo, vice-president; Tatyana Kotuzenko, secretary; Constance Knauber, president; Alice Zeller, treasurer; and Kathleen O'Brien, ex-officio.

President Constance Knauber hands bandages to Mrs. Sally Webb, Future Nurses advisor, for sterilization in the autoclave.

Kings players stage "My Fair Lady"

My Fair Lady, the first musical attempted by the King's Players., was an outstanding success. Every member of the cast and crew co-operated to make the production run smoothly through each of the three performances.

The Players plan to produce The Sound of Music in the spring of '69. This production will involve more imaginative scenery and production techniques. If the Players can equal their My Fair Lady success, the school will have additional reason to be proud of the Drama Club.

Artists beautify school

CONSIDERED to be a more or less behind the scenes activity, the Art Club provides posters for school events, and seasonal decorations for the school building. Art Club members also assist in presenting the annual art show. Art students find in Art Club a chance to contribute ideas and to work on group projects not connected with class work. To students with an interest in art, but with no time for a regularly scheduled art class, it gives the opportunity for creative expression which is beneficial not only to themselves, but to the entire school

Publications tell it like it is

ONE of the most significant signs of growth in an extracurricular activity has been the rejuvenation of Smoke Signals, the school newspaper. Through selling space for students' classified advertisements, and other profit-making ventures, the Smoke Signals staff is now able to finance a fifteen page newspaper with photographs on the front and back covers. The staff, advised by Mr. Robert Houde, has initiated the idea of running a contest with each issue. Other innovations include reviews of current books and films, as well as a number of new columns.

In its fifth year, the staff of Sachem, King Philip's literary magazine, is increasing the number of issues from two to three. Perhaps more important is the more active student and faculty participation in the Sachem Seminar, led by the Sachem editors, in which vocal expression of ideas and the spontaneity thereby generated establish a kind of communication not possible through written verse or prose.

Satisfaction through involvement

WHILE providing their classmates and themselves with a tangible reminder of their experiences in the past year, the Chieftain staff has learned many lessons connected with planning and producing a yearbook. For a number of the editorial staff members, this has been their first real taste of journalism. Possibly, for some of them, it will not be their last, as they become aware of the satisfaction gained through involvement with the Chieftain.

In that they must meet all costs of publication the business staff is equally responsible for the success of the Chieftain. They raise money through the sale of subscriptions and advertisements, and through other projects.

Activities staff members, Patricia Hurkett, James Conrad, and Jane Woolford, check an old yearbook for copy suggestions.

Chieftain business staff members, directed by Mrs. Lucy Costello, are: Susan O'Neil, Deborah Taylor, Dianne Bankert, Jeanette Tripp, Cynthia Budd, Sandra Peloquin, Alexander Julewitz, Sara Young, Deborah Bergevine, Teresa Cannon, Constance Knauber, and Arthur Hapenny.

A.V.A., library, and

UNDER the call letters, WKPH, the King Philip Radio Club announcers daily broadcast important notices and events. During basketball season, WKPH reports play by play coverage of all home games. Competently advised by Mr. Alexander Taylor, King Philip's Radio Club members have proved themselves to be of great service to the school.

Every successful school activity depends on the work and co-operation of many people in the background. One of the most important services is the stage lighting. This is one of the main contributions that the Audio-Visual Aids' boys make. Under the direction of Mr. Francis Gallipeau, the A.V.A. boys manage to make every school production more of a success. The boys are also responsible for the operation of such machines as: overhead projectors, record players, television sets, opaque projectors, motion picture projectors, and tape recorders, for the classroom teacher.

Library Council members help students to locate the books they need, and keep the library shelves in order. They also relieve Mrs. Winona LoGrasso of routine chores such as checking out and mending books, giving her time to order new books and to help with students' questions.

Audio-Visual Aids' boys are: Dale Babbit, Steven Plante, Lawrence Keyes, Nelson Hill, Ted Long, Bruce Johnston, Kenneth Patton, Mr. Francis Gallipeau, adviser; Norman Brown, Paul Cooney, Robert Schaeffer, James Binney, Scott Long, Leon Pritchard, Stephen Skinner, and Dana Carlson.

radio clubs comprise student services

Fans enjoy marching band

KING Philip sports fans enjoy the precision marching and rousing music of the King Philip Fightin' Warrior Marching Band at all football games and holiday parades. This year, an added attraction for the spectators has been the bright new uniforms and hats in which the band members proudly strut to their own music.

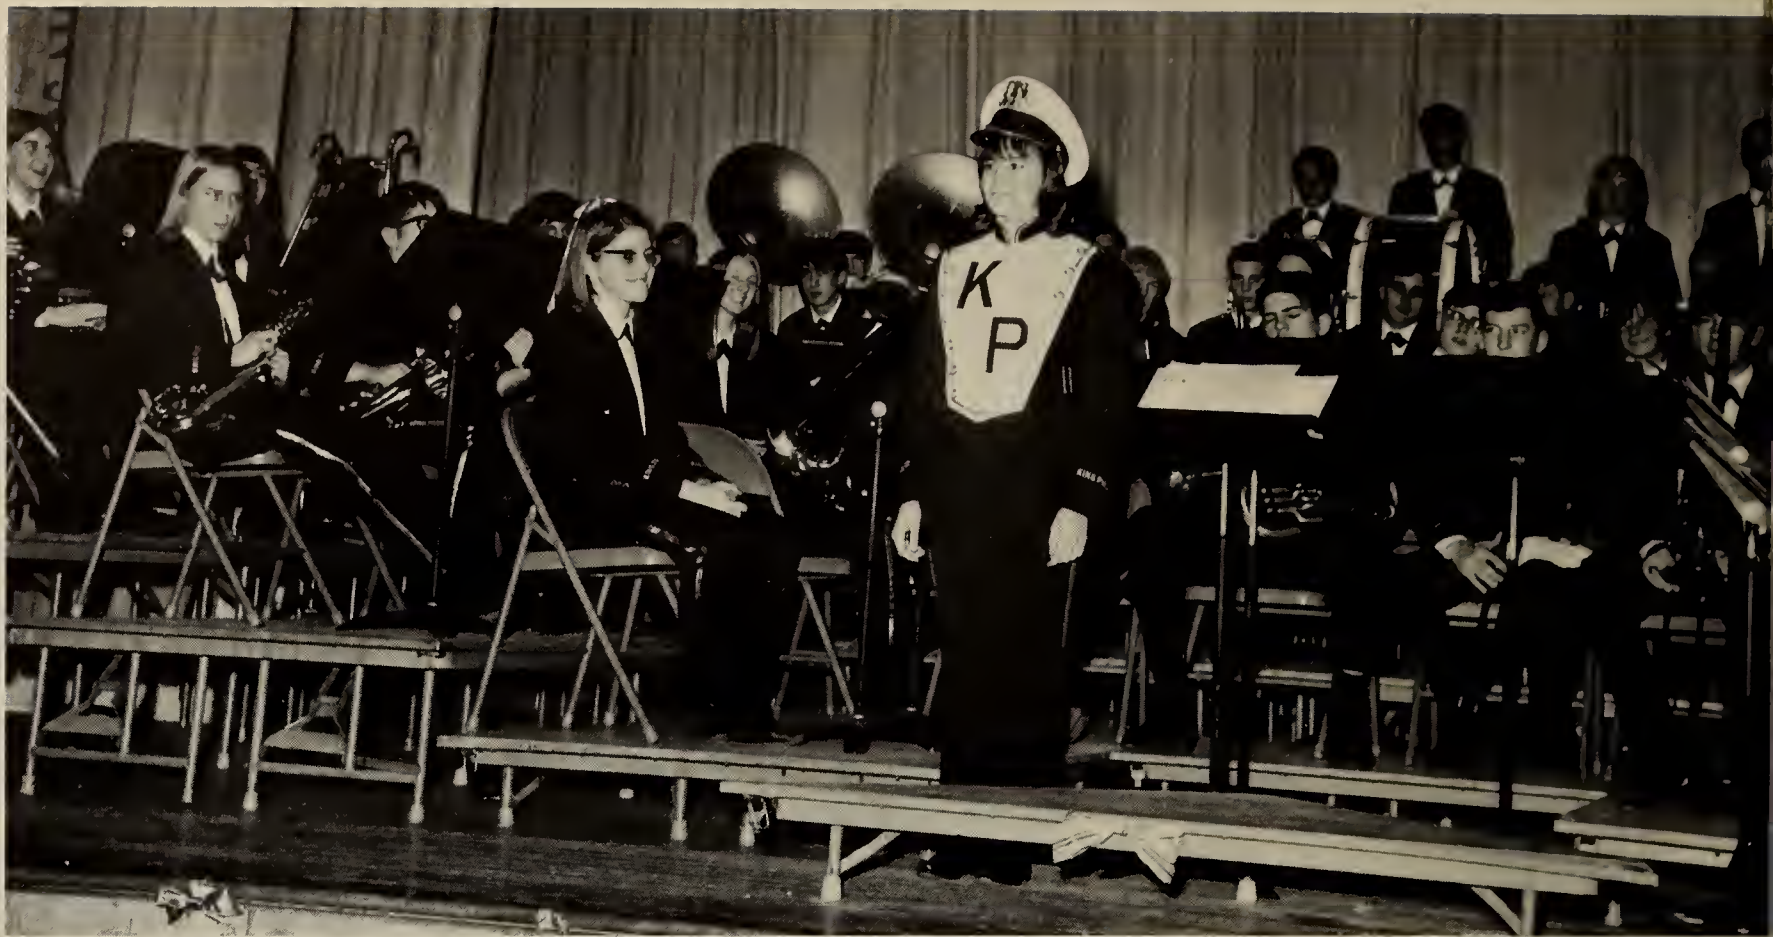

Going into concert formation during half time activities, the King Philip Marching Band plays "Tijuana Taxi."

King Philip marching band runs through its maneuvers during half-time.

Flutist, Nancy Howard, models the marching band uniform.

New uniforms brighten up concerts

KING Philip's concert band members proudly wear their new green and white uniforms at this year's school functions and concerts. Band members sold thousands of bars of chocolate to raise the money for these uniforms. The fine performance of the talented students, directed by Mr. Raymond Hill, continue to please the Regional District audiences.

Martin Lillis, Constance Stacey, Hans Warwick, David Walls, Joyce Carpenter, Michael Williams, Barbara Barnes, Jacqueline Reybrock, Lenore Mayer, Howard Shangraw, Nancy Wood, Barbara Perry, and Neil Carlson make up the reed section.

Deborah Willard, Nancy Howard, Sally Chabot, Mary Martin, Patricia Hoar, Rae Barrett, Kathleen Howard, Carolyn Dusty, Renee Meek, Ruth Bremilst, Karen Flessas, Lois Reynolds, Jeanne Mitchell, Wayne Brown, Lizbeth Breitbart, Paul Stock, and Dorothea Pazurcek, are members of the woodwind section.

Maintaining the rhythm are the percussionists: Richard Shephardson, Jonathan Washburn, Bradley Plante, Mark Burton, Carmine Lorusso, Gary McLacklan, June Clark, Ray Harmon, Susan Lukk, Peter Reidel, and Kathryn Neal.

Chorus has extensive repertoire

UNDER the direction of Mr. Anthony Anzivino, new to King Philip this year, and with the addition of boys to give depth to the harmony, the choir meets three times weekly to learn and practice a program consisting of popular, religious, and Christmas music. The major part of this time is spent in preparation for two major concerts, at Christmas and in the spring.

The Choir, directed by Mr. Anthony Anzivino, entertains an appreciative audience at the Christmas Concert.

SPORTS

Injuries limit Warrior wins to 3

IN his first year as head coach, Mr. Thomas Hartley, with the help of his new assistant coaches Mr. Wayne Simarrian and Mr. William Reynolds, sported a team which shows signs of generating into a football dynasty at King Philip. Coach Hartley has developed some fine players such as All-League stars: Thomas Vine, George Katapodis, Dennis Rowland, and Stephen Oliva.

The Warriors' victory over Foxboro, the first in the team's ten year history, is indicative of the team's promising future.

Head coach, Mr. Thomas Hartley, anxiously looks on as his defense stops another charge by the opposition.

S-O-U-L Soul team

THIS year's cheerleading squad led some of the most enthusiastic rallies ever held at K.P. Adding new cheers to the usual battle cries, the squad inspired the student body into forming the best cheering section in the Hockomock League.

K.P. Cheerleaders: R1 — Diane Carpenter, Kathleen Kane, Captain Martha Blood, Susan Lukk; R2 — Joan Zilch, Deborah Willis, Lucille Gaudreau; R3 — Deborah Hapenny, Donna Figaratto, and Deborah Carter successfully built a pyramid.

"Leaping Miss Willy" — Deborah Willis executes a jump.

Seniors Diane Carpenter, Martha Blood, captain; and Deborah Willis led the squad with enthusiasm and spirit.

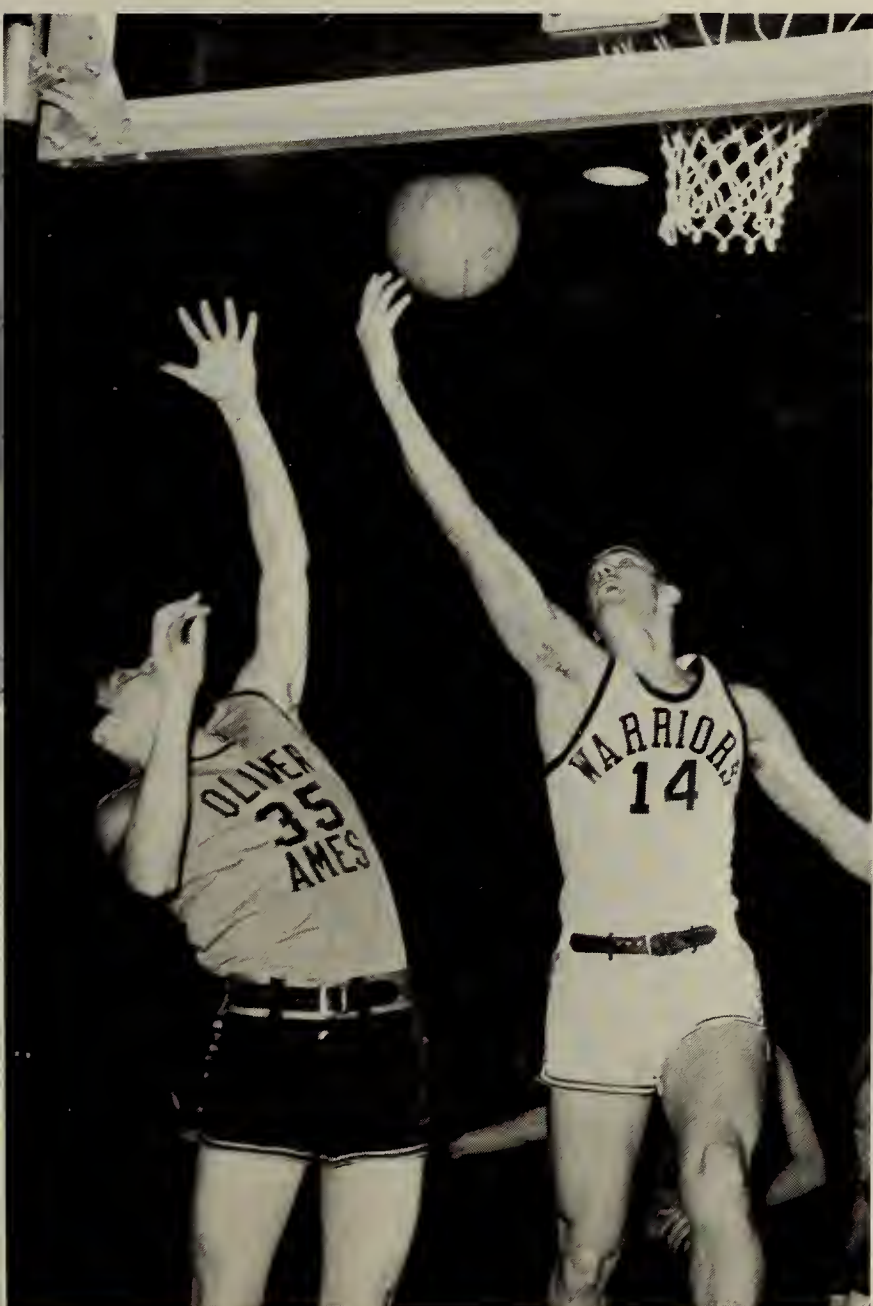

R1 — Robert Gilmore, Kevin Lewis, Russell Sullivan, Bruce Jacobson, captain; Jeffrey Newman, Richard Smith, R2 — Albert Figaratto, Thomas Vine, John Renner, Mr. William

Reynolds, coach; Rainer Baumann, and George Katapodis are King Philip's varsity players.

Cagers start season with high hopes

Though getting off to a slow start by dropping their first two games, the fighting Warrior Basketball team put it all together against Franklin by crushing the Panthers by a score of 86-67. This win and the team's fine display of talent in the first part of the season presents an in depth look at a championship team in the making.

Captain Bruce Jacobson goes for two.

R1 — Antony Costa, Charles Rooney, Robert Taber, Jeffrey Newman, Charles Porter, Russell Waldron. R2 — David Harrington, David Grover, Kenneth Thornton, Kevin McCullough, Walter Zagieboylo and coach, Mr. Robert Murphy were the Warrior Harriers for '68.

DESPITE the loss of several outstanding long-distance runners from last year's championship track team, the King Philip cross-country team had its best season in recent years. Warrior success was due in large measure to the performance of a group of spirited, young sophomores. Russell Waldron and Charles Porter combined to give the team its one-two punch. Antony Costa and Robert Taber, along with junior Charles Rooney, and senior Jeffrey Newman, provided the needed depth.

K.P. nine slides from first to fourth

WINNING their first seven games gave the "Fighting" Warriors the lead place in the league. Mid-season the Warriors went into a slump. The strong pitching of Richard Smith coupled with with the capable catching of George Katapodis and the accurate bat of Robert Gilmore could not hold the early lead the Warrior Nine had set up. In the final tally for '68 the K. P. Nine found themselves in fourth place.

Outfielder Robert Gilmore keeps his eye on the ball and the play.

Trackmen win league championship

WHEN the Warrior trackmen lost their first meet, the fans expected another losing season. One defeat, however, was one too many for Coaches Lerra and Murphy and the trackmen. Practice, determination and stamina turned the losers into the League champions. The 1968 trackmen brought King Philip its first trophy in eleven years.

Record performances were turned in by Richard Pierce in the 220, Anthony Zeppieri in the 440, William Rooney in the 880, and Douglas Wood in the javelin. Other stand outs were Harold Wilson in the 100, Richard Sevigny in the 2 mile, Frank Roderigues in the pole vault, Bruce Jacobson in the high jump. Captain David Power, who competed in the mile, high jump and long jump, was the high scorer and all around performer. These stars backed up by outstanding team work cinched the championship for King Philip.

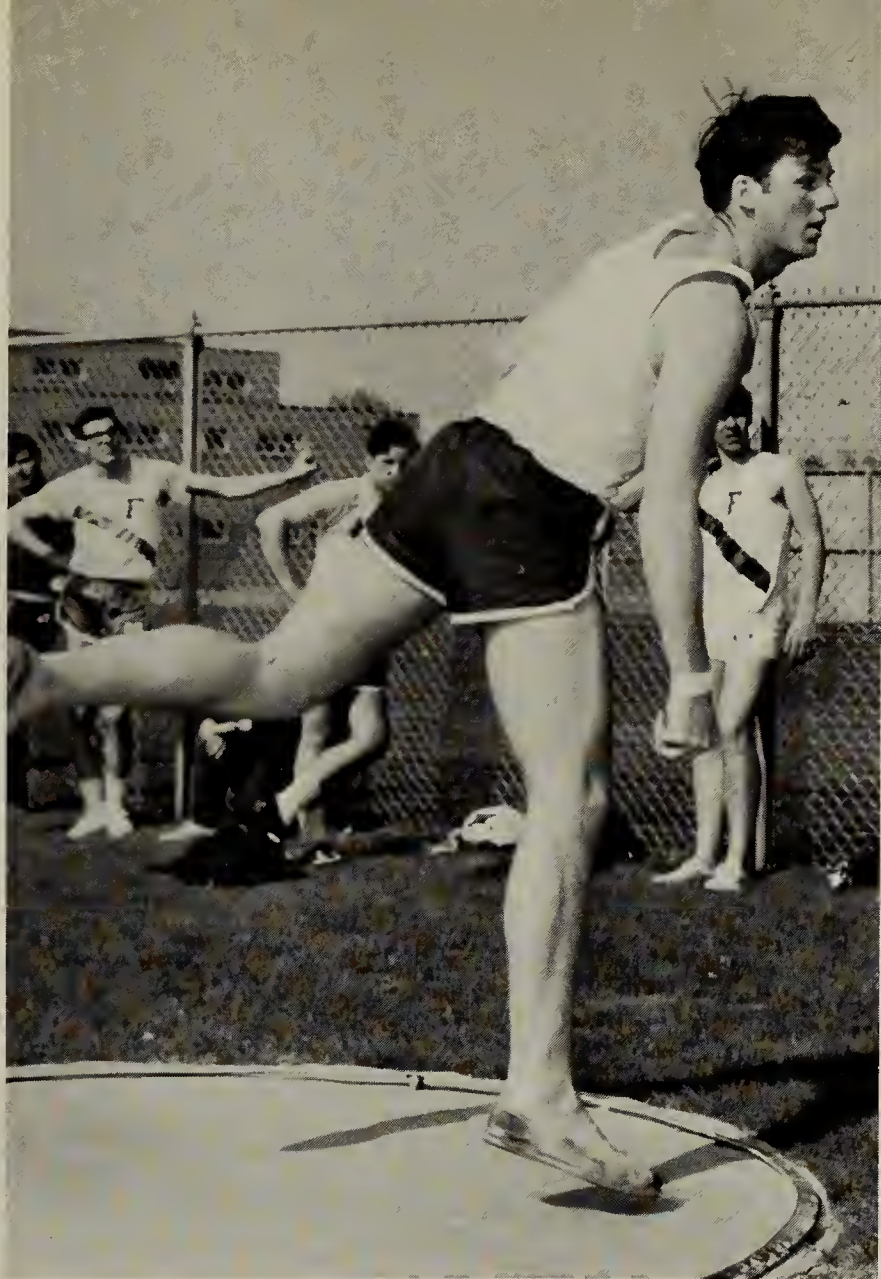

Tri-captains David Power, Richard Pierce and Douglas Wood led their team to a victorious season.

Up, up and over. Frank Roderigues shows the form that made him one of the best pole vaulters in the league.

Dennis Rowland has just released a near-record shot putt toss.

K.P. golfers unbeatable

COACH Edgar Tousignant's gentlemen of the fairways showed the Hockomock League teams that King Philip was the team to beat. With Charles Stone driving and John Renner putting, K.P. had a combination impossible to beat. This pair of headliners, backed by strong team play, won another trophy for the King Philip showcase.

King Philip's Warrior tennis team for '68 had nine players: R1 — Richard Pierce, William Budd, Kurt Leutzinger, Darrell Lockwood. R2 — John Such, Rainer Baumann, Sherwood Haskins, captain; Russell Sullivan, Alexander Julewitz with coach, Mr. John Dwyer.

Haskins, Baumann, Julewitz star

LED by the brilliant play of Captain Sherwood Haskins and Rainer Baumann, the boys' varsity tennis team had another great year.

Captain Haskins was undefeated in League play. Rainer Baumann had an impressive 11-2 record and Alexander Julewitz played fine tennis as the number three man.

EVENTS

“This is the ship of pearl, which, poets feign, Sails the unshadowed main —”

Fire inflames enthusiasm

"ANYTHING GOES" — old wood, mattresses, railroad ties, and paper — into a bonfire, to set the stage for the student rally. The students', parents', and townspeople's enthusiasm, reflected in the flames of the fire, was a valiant, integral part of the team's desire to win. The Warriors this year fought "fire with fire", and played a valorous game.

With half of the monumental bonfire burned, the spectators' spirit never dwindled.

Quarterback of the Fightin' Warrior's, Richard Smith, squired Warrior's Choice queen Deborah Willis.

As the fire smoulders and dies, a climax is reached; the students' anxieties and hopes for a victory have culminated.

Samurai transforms King Philip cafeteria

JUNE and the Sophomore Semi-Formal burst forth upon the King Philip social scene. The semi-formal is now very much a part of Sophomore and Freshman social life. On June 5, under the theme of Samurai, amidst very beautiful decorations which transformed the King Philip cafeteria into an Oriental Paradise, happy, starry-eyed couples danced to the music of The Pastels.

Entranced with the mood of a new adventure, Sophomore dancers Marie Prantis and John Finase enjoy their semi-formal.

In accord with the Oriental decor of the evening, Joyce Carpenter and Robert Warren venture to dine with chopsticks.

Queen Carol Peloquin, with escort Richard Tripp, reigns with a smile over her Samurai attendants.

Dancing is our thing

OCCASIONALLY, the student must take time out from his academic work to relax and just react to the new rock music. This is where school dances come in. Dances at King Philip run the gamut from extremely informal events, such as the annual Sadie Hawkins dance, to the more formal Homecoming and Warrior's Choice dances. Throughout the year each class sponsors at least one dance and many of the clubs take advantage of this opportunity to raise additional funds for their various projects. The snack bar is always open and provides welcome refreshment for exhausted "swingers."

Student Council president, Sarah Kempton, collects the dance money; Carmine Lorusso stands by with "the stamp of approval."

Fort Mudge Memorial Dump quintet "socked it to 'em" at the Senior dance.

At the Warrior's Choice, Queen Deborah Willis, escorted by Richard Smith, ruled with court attendants Arlene Doyle and Elaine Evans and escorts Alden Cooper and William Barber.

George Hoffman grooves with the beat.

At the Sadie Hawkins dance, football player Steven Dias, peeks over his partner's shoulder.

SILVER trees adorned with shiny blue balls, windows frosted with snow, seasonal cheer, the unseasonal warmth of happy voices, romantic glances and the dulcet tones of the Pastels, combined with the delicious buffet, provided the atmosphere and enjoyment of the annual Christmas Ball, held in the King Philip cafeteria on December 20, 1968.

Fashion show a success

GIRLS in the Home Economics sewing classes presented another successful fashion show in the spring of '68. Costumes for dress and sport were "mod" in color and design.

Elaine Evans, Jane Brousseau and Susan Lyons modeled three different types of sportswear.

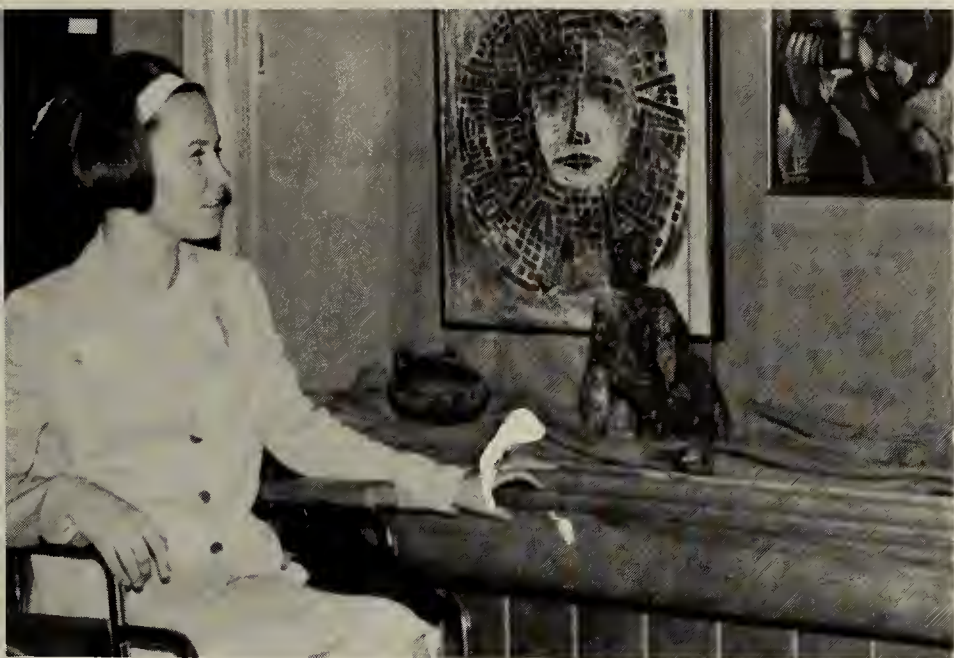

During a break in the rehearsal for the fashion show, Mrs. Pauline Pfeffer poses with her granddaughter, Paula.

After the highly successful performance, the fashions were committed to the showcases for closer student perusal.

Art instructor, Miss Suzanne Tellis, created one of the most attractive and interesting exhibits at the Art Show.

Creativity blossoms in spring

STIMULATED by Spring, inspired by the ideas and thoughts of today, the King Philip artists gave their annual showing in May. Oils, watercolors — traditional and impressionistic — collages, carvings and sculpture all beautified the walls and filled the showcases for a week.

Interested spectators admire the artistic work accomplished at King Philip.

Daniel Tower thinks that Janice Fortier could have been the inspiration for this modernistic portrait.

A potpourri of musical sounds

KING PHILIP Auditorium resounded to a potpourri of musical sounds; show tunes, marches, holiday carols, popular and traditional music at the annual Christmas Concert, presented on December 18, 1968. The eighty band members of the choir were proud to present an enjoyable evening of entertainment.

Carousel

Susan Robinson and her date for the evening, Dennis Rowland, seem caught up in the happy mood of the Junior Prom.

FLYING HORSES, dancing feet, whirling mobiles and the light music of the orchestra intermingled with the happy voices to create a merry-go-round of happiness for the promenaders at the 1968 Junior Prom — "Carousel."

Leading the grand march at Carousel are: Sheila Ravinski, Kenneth Dunn, Elaine Evans, John Matakanski, Barbara Barnes, Peter Santoro, Shirley Steliga and Kurt Leutzinger.

Lee Welch and his partner found an open space on the crowded dance floor.

Marilyn Baima conducts Dianne Carpenter back to her seat.

Hostess Shirley Steliga serves a proud parent at tea.

Beauty and solemnity mark induction

AS always, parents, friends and faculty were awed by the beauty and solemnity of the Honor Society induction ceremony. Academically gowned Honor Society officers in the soft light of the symbolic candles welcomed the inductees into the Honorificist and Helen Keller chapters of the society.

After the ceremony, members entertained inductees and guests at tea.

Martin Pearson, Alexander Julewitz and Richard Smith demonstrate the operation of the Ripple Tank for Mr. Pearson.

Student accomplishments impress parents

DESPITE inclement weather, many parents were on hand for this year's annual Parent's Night. All of the departments presented samples or demonstrations of their work for parents to view. Parents were duly impressed by the students' work and the several class demonstrations.

While discussing student progress with attentive parents Mrs. Lorna Russell, French teacher, steals a glance at our photographer.

Geoffrey Chaucer (Barbara Perry) leads the Pilgrims: Paula Carr, Linda Fuller, Shirley Steliga, Barbara Barnes, Sara Young, Dianne

Carpenter and Deborah Keeler, in the Wassail Song at the Christmas Pageant.

Student involvement

CLASSROOM projects, student holiday assemblies and Homecoming Day for King Philip alumni added interest and excitement to school affairs.

High school demands maturity

Students, class of 1972, realized early that, if high school is to be a rewarding experience, they must become proponents of self-discipline and academic responsibility. Having spent two years together at junior high school, they have already developed a strong sense of unity and a lively class spirit.

Mr. Wayne Simarrian, social studies teacher and football coach; Mrs. Joan Secher, English teacher; and Mr. Arnold Macktaz, mathematics teacher; extend a helping hand, whenever needed, to the freshman class.

Versatility a class characteristic

Known for its versatility, the Class of 1971 are talented in all fields — sports, academics, art and music. Their versatility enables this growing class to contribute much to the make-up of King Philip's character. Individualism is the word for this class. Each member puts forth his best in the spirit of his class. With two more years of growing, the class of 1971 is sure to be one of those long remembered at King Philip.

Faculty advisors for the class of 1971 are: Mrs. Debra Taylor and Mrs. Diane Lubow, English teachers, with Mr. Alexander Taylor, special education teacher.

Planning the year's activities are the sophomore class officers: Dorothea Pazurchek, treasurer; Darrell Lockwood, president; Alice Zeller, vice-president; and Joan Zilch, secretary.

1971's class council members are: R1 — Monica Collins, Anthony Cacciapaglia, Donna Figaratto, Robert Warren, and Jean Mitchell. R2

— Nancy Holt, Ruth Bremilist, Judith Petrillo, Nancy Wood, Judith McClean, Martha Connors, Mary Ann Pasquantonio, Mary Martin.

Juniors fulfill early promise

WITH one year to go, the Class of 1970 is fulfilling its early promise of bringing honor to the school. As juniors, the class can boast of two Hockomock League All Stars, the most valuable player in the Thanksgiving Day game and several varsity players in all major sports.

Lest one think the juniors think only of sports, let it be known that they are academically and socially responsible school citizens.

The class, still within its academic protective shell, is rapidly approaching maturity in thought and deed.

Faculty members, advisors to the class of 1970 are: R1 — Mr. Constantine Poulos, Mrs. Rita Tokaz, R2 — Mr. Brian O'Connor, and Mr. Thomas Blaisdell.

Junior class officers are: Lucille Gaudreau, secretary; Leo Lapierre, president; Vincent DeLaiarro, vice-president; and Linda Viola, treasurer.

Class council members of the class of 1970 are: R1 — Susan Bond, Joseph Stock, Laura Littleton, Gary McLacklin, Barbara Packard, R2 — George Hayden, Dianne Bankert, Daniel Falcone, Arlene Doyle, John Matakanski, and Deborah Kelly.

SENIORS

"Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea."

Preparation for the future begins with awareness of the present

SURELY the members of the Class of '69 have much to be proud of in the way of contributions to the school — several varsity athletes, two National Merit Semi-Finalists, and many other less-heralded students who have all done their part in making their class an innovative community responsible for such new ideas as the Sophomore Semi-Formal and the redesigned class ring.

Equipped with this living experience, each student aware that "Preparation for the future begins with awareness of the present" awaits the moment when he will crawl out of the King Philip "shell" to find his place in life. Hopefully, within this shell development has been complete enough to insure success in coping with the problems outside.

Better intra-class communication is the aim of senior class officers R1 — Elaine Evans, secretary; Barbara Barnes, treasurer; R2 — John Bergman, vice-president; and Peter Santoro, president.

Girls' State delegates: Mary McGarry and Linda Fuller represented King Philip at Bridgewater State College.

Mr. Robert Houde, English department; Miss Janna Bremer, social studies; Miss Genevieve Szczepaniak, mathematics; and Mr. Stephen Besaw, English; serve as advisers to the Class of 1969.

Class Council members: R1 — Gregory Wadleigh, Karen Peterson, Linda Armitage, Ralph Crowell; R2 — Louise Loring, Deborah Keeler, Lyn Tibbetts, Mary McGarry, Pamela Murphy, Susan Robinson, and Cynthia Budd are faced with the responsibility of arranging the many senior affairs.

Gold and silver keys symbolize the high honors achievement of: R1 — Nancy Howard, Paula Carr, National Merit Semi-Finalist; Linda Fuller, National Merit Semi-Finalist; Shirley Steliga; R2 — Dianne Carpenter and Edith Cook.

National Merit Letters of Commendation for scholastic achievement were received by: R1 — Sara Young, Nancy Howard, Jane Woolford, Louise Loring; R2 — Kurt Leutzinger, Jeffrey Newman, Alpin Chisholm and Antonio Friere.

Boys' State delegates and alternates from the Regional District included: Alexander Julewitz, Gregory Wadleigh, Roger Eaton, Jeffrey Newman, Bruce Jacobson, Robert Gilmore, Kenneth Mayer and Kevin McCullough.

Seniors now

Left: Paula Dumont has the school girl look.

And then

Far left: Would you believe that Bruce Jacobson and Deborah Willard had the first "love in?"

Above: Members of this 8th grade class council grew up to be varsity athletes, yearbook editors and dramatic actresses.

Left: Is this the same Barbara Perry who has a gourmet's taste for boeuf braise maison?

WE, the 1969 Chieftain staff members, hope that we have, throughout the pages of this book, given an articulate account of the attempts made at King Philip Regional High School to provide a milieu in which horizons can be broadened and compassionate understanding can be reached, where the transfer of factual knowledge is accompanied by experiences with people, ideas, and emotions. We have expressed pictorially those phases of our experiences which are sometimes not effectively depicted with words.

In closing, we also express the hope that the ever-widening spiral representing our growth as human beings will continue long after we have attained sufficient knowledge and awareness to free ourselves from our "shells" of dependence; that we may continue to build ". . . more stately mansions."

Mrs. Fischer
one of the greatest teachers
the whole school has you all of the help you have given me in getting into school with your references and I've been terrible wish I knew it. I harder, not because it would have helped me
(I'll never get back!)
but because you did so much for us. You're the only teacher who gives so much attention to the work we do. Thanks for the word the "thoughts" on the board
too. Sara Young

Mrs. Fisher,

I've had you for two years and I can really say that I've enjoyed it. I did learn an awful lot. A teacher is not a "preacher" - she's a friend - and you are.
A teacher needs personality and warmth. I guess that's why everyone likes you so much. Thank you very much.

God Bless you,

Cindy Kempton

PS Keep on writing those memos every day!
They're swell!!!

Mrs. Fischer,
one of the best teachers in the school, thank you for standing up
under period 4
Steven Carter

Mrs. Fisher,
you've had a pretty interesting Trig class this year and we learned alot more by having to do our homework. I hope next year's classes pass in more work than ours has this year, because you are more than fair to your students.
Kevin McCullough

Mrs. Fisher
was a good Trig class. Glad you had so much you perfection with our period 6 class.

Good
Mrs. Fisher
I thank you for

Mrs Fisher,

In my opinion your the most under rated teachers in King Philip everyone should have you for a teacher because they are missing alot of learning not only math but everyday life if they dont. Good luck and I hope you always have the best because you certainly deserve it. And remember the only difference between modern math and the other stuff is the vocabulary!!!

Martha Blood

'69"

Mrs Fisher.

You have been more than a teacher to me. I learned a little about math this year but I learned a lot more about life from your little side talks. I looked forward to those little sayings on the board every day. Good luck for the rest of years at K.P. you have plenty left.

Jake

Dear Mrs Fisher -

"Thank you" is not enough for me to say to appreciate you much, I've in the world were more people place... I've never be a much better good in math.. and I took it with a decision, but I've never been so satisfied, or so happy with a marvelous person... You're really been making my senior year at King Philip as wonderful as it has been... take care. Best of luck in the coming years.

Anne Russo '69.

Mrs. Fisher,

I want you to know that I think your a great teacher and though I hardly ever did my home work I believe I learned a lot in your class. Thank you and Good Luck,

Robert Martin

Mrs. Fisher,
I was one of my
and has math teacher
with me. I've been able to put up

Mrs. Fisher,
You've really been wonderful this year. I've really enjoyed listening to you. You make math a little more bearable with your interjections. I really want to thank you.

The beginning

as Fisher
all your future will be as good as
us. M. Assette "69"

Mrs. Fisher
you're a fine teacher, and I am sure that your future years at K.P. will prove to be as wonderful for you as this one has been for me.

Ralph Crowell "69"

Fisher
though I
at you but student
I still think you are a great teacher and wish the best of luck
in every thing you do.

Joe Horney

Mrs. Fisher,

Even though I can't say much for my understanding of Trig, I want to let you know how much I have enjoyed having you for a teacher,
both this year and for geometry.
I love the little stories that you tell in class and watch for our sayings on the board
every day.

Thank-you for all you've done.
Best wishes.

Dawn Nelson

Mrs. Fisher was much more enjoyable
compared to math classes in the past because of your interesting stories. Good luck with your future classes.
Al Brown "69"

Mrs. Fisher,

You've made math very interesting. I still can't say that all the assignments were ~~that~~ fun, though. You are one of the best teachers
K.P. has.

Roger Eaton

Mrs. Fisher,

you're one of my best teachers and I've really enjoyed Trig. class. Thank-you for teaching me all I've learned (and not learned.)
